The Imperial Power in Louisiana.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

NEW YORK, October 20.—A special to the Times from Shreveport, report excitement from the propect of the arrest of seventy prominent merchants and free holders. The arrests is grounded upon the following:

SHREVEPORT, October 16, 1874.

We the undersigned merchants of Shreveport, in obedience to a request of the Shreveport campaign club, agree to use every endeavor to get our employees to vote the people's ticket at the ensuing election, and in the event of their refusal to do or in case they vote the radical ticket, to refuse to employ them at the expiration of their present contracts. This was signed by sixty-nine of the leading merchants of the city. Warrants of arrest are issued. There is general determination on the part of the younger merchants who are implicated, to mount their horses and take to the woods. This might end in guerrilla warfare, A. B. Levisiere, formerly district judge and and candidate for the legislature on the radical ticket; is the United States commissioner before whom the affidavits were made and whose duty it is to issue warrants for arrest.

New Hampshire Kuklux.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

NASSAU, N. H., October 20.—Last night six masked men entered the room of Cashier Sonhegan, of the national bank at Milford, gagged him, put a rope around his neck shut his wife and four children and a servant in a closet. They then dragged him to the bank and made him open the vault, which they robbed of about $4,500 currency, $15,000 in $20, 000 in bonds, money government, and some other securities. After which they led him back to the house, tied him to the bedpost and left. The family forced open the closet about four o'clock, and gave the alarm, but no trace of the robbers could be discovered.

Yellow Fever.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

WASHINGTON, October 20.—A telegram received at the navy department this morning from Captain A. A. Semmes, commanding the Pensacola navy yard, announced that Crigler, the machinist, O'Dowd, fireman, and Berryman, seaman; were attacked with fever on Sunday. O'Dowd died, but the others are doing well.

French Elections.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

PARIS, October 20.—Fifty-seven of the councils general have effected their organization. Twenty-three of them choose republican presidents. The mayor of Nice has been dismissed from office, because he recommended for election to council general, candidates favorable to the separation of Nice from France.

A Radical Row.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

CLINTON, October 20.—A row between the conflicting republican factions resulted in the wounding of a horse, mule and seven negroes.

HONORE.

Fred. Grant's Intended.—A Splendid Trousseau.—Elegant and Costly Presents

Jennie June gives the following description of Miss Honore's trousseau.

The Grant-Honore wedding is the subject of consideration in fashionable private circles, and many are the conjectures as to the style and elegance of the trousseau. Will it be as handsome as Nelly Grant's, as profuse or as costly?

No one is able to give a satisfactory answer to these questions, for as yet it has not transpired of what it consisted, where the dresses were being made, how, with what trimmings, or in what colors, and laces, the bride expects to shine upon the occupants of the White House, this winter. Except the wedding dress, which was imported, the dresses and garments composing the trousseau were all made at the establishment of McCreery & Co., in New York, and as a glimpse was kindly afforded me before it was shipped for Chicago, I can give your lady readers some idea of the fine taste which has presided over the outfit for a republican princess.

Of the dresses, one a trained dinner dress, was all pink, a lovely shade of pale rose pink; another all blue, corresponding in every particular. The overskirt formed a short apron in form, which extended into sashes at the side, and held the pouf, and long, flat, box-pleating which formed the train in position. The bodies were cut V shape, the sleeves demi-long, and fini-hed with knife pleatings. The skirts were trimmed with flounces and puffings, crossed at intervals by loops of the silk, and the apron and sashes with ostrich feather trimmings and deep fringe, matching in color precisely. Plaitings of tulle added to ruffles of exquisite Valenciennes lace finished the neck and wrists.

A very beautiful dress was in two shades of green—Nile green, and the invisible, almost black. This had a straight puff down the front, flounces on one side, three series of fine knife-pleatings on the other. The back of this skirt also was laid in a broad plait, surmounted by a pouf, and the bows and ends formed of fine knife-pleatings with ends, in which the two shades were combined.

A carriage dress in a dark shade of pluna color was composed of velvet and faille, the silk being used for the shirred front, the sleeves and the pipings, the velvet for the flounce and the court train.

Another carriage dress was of black-blue faille, piped, and slightly intermixed with palest blue. The skirt of this had a puffed front, and a long train without any overskirt. The body high and plain, belt front, with basque at the back, and trimming of fine knife-pleatings, with large bows at the side of the skirt. The sleeves were shirred upon the front, and a cuff turned up above the pleating, lined, and piped with the color. A mantle accompanied this dress, edged with a pleating and lined, and piped to match the dress. A feather trimming in dark cest peacock shades was used as a heading upon the sleeves, skirt, basque, and mantle most effectively.

A beautiful walking dress was in two shades of ashes of roses, the sleeves and apron of the darker shade, the body part and pipings of the lighter. The broad sash was of the silk doubled, the two shades being combined. The garniture was flat ostrich feather bands, deep rich fringe, and pearl buckles.

An elegant reception dress was of pale corn-colored gros grain combined with purple velvet. The front was shir ed with folds of velvet between. At t o back an over-skirt of velvet, forming two wings, was lined with corn-color, and draped most gracefully over the trained skirt.

The grand toilets elicited the warmest expressions of admiration. One was a tea rose, trimmed with fine fringe pleatings, and exquisite lace. The overskirt was of crepe de chine of the same shade, looped up with violets and tea roses. The other was a peach-colored silk, the front of the skirt composed of alternating puffed crepe de chine and lace. The tunic formed a pouf, and wide sashes at the back only, looped with moss roses and ostrich feather tips; the garniture being repeated upon the bodice and sleeves, which were most beautifully and tastefully finished with tulle plaitings and point lace.

Among the other articles composing the trousseau were four opera cloaks, one of white gros grain, trimmed with white fur, one of matelasse silk, trimmed with white ostrich feather trimming and pearl passementerie, one of satin, thick, but not glossy, magnificently embroidered, and another of white striped cloth, in which a stripe of velvet moss alternates, with one of thick, netted silk. This was bordered with a very rich fringe of silk and chenille.

The bridal dress, par excellence, is of marvellous white satin, with point lace over-dress made to order and beautifully cooped with orange blossoms. It is quite high in the neck, has long sleeves, and is to be covered by a plain illusion veil.

A point lace jabot, a set of delicate Valenciennes, a coat of black matelasse, mounted with velvet, and an all-black toilet of silk, velvet and jet were noted, and deserve more special mention than I have time or space to give them.

There was also a plain walking skirt of velvet, with camel's hair polonaise mounted with velvet, which was exceedingly novel, original and stylish, but I must dismiss the subject with a single expression of sincere admiration of the general good sense and good t ste displyed in the preparation of this handsome outfit and good wishes for the happiness of the wearer.

E. T. ENGLAND, representing Jehial Read & Co., wholesale hat dealers, etc., Broadway, New York, will have his fine line of hat samples at the National Hotel during the fair, and would be glad to take orders. This is an old hat house and does a large southern trade. 1w

ELECTION TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3D.

BREVITIES.

—General Frank P. Blair is slowing recovering from his recent serious illness.

—During the past year the United States imported 19,864,000 pounds of tea from Japan.

—Josh Billings says:

"Life is full of kare and trubble,
Whether you go it single or dubie."

—The Princess Miggislaw Woronieczky, widow of the commander of the Monveds, is gaining a livelihood as a washerwoman in Pesth.

—The niece of the Duchess of Edinburgh's baby increases the numbers of Queen Victoria's grand-children to 36, of whom 23 are living.

—Garters with monogram clasps are now all the fashion with pretty girls. The style is said to be convenient and elegant, and we hope to see more of it.

—The geological garden of Cincinnati was recently the recipient of a package weighing 650 pounds, containing live specimens of all but three kinds of native American snakes.

—The first snow of the season made its appearance in New York Tuesday afternoon. It was but a few flakes, however, as if only as a gentle admonition that winter is near.

—A little boy couldn't remember the text exactly, but thought it was something about a hawk between two pigeons. It was, "Why halt ye between two opinions."

—New Albany has an odd genius. He now has his third wife, all of whom were divorced women. He asserts that if he was to marry a dozen times he would wed no other.

—The Mattie Stephenson monument, at Memphis, has been completed and placed over the remains of the heroic martyr girl, who one year ago laid down her life on the altar of humanity.

—Gov. Allen, of Ohio has refused all the favors offered him by the railroads, as well as the extra care they have been accustomed to furnish for the Governor's use. He says he will travel like his neighbors and pay his fare like an independent man.

—The canvass for woman suffrage in Michigan has developed these pay taxes thousand women in that State. But they need have no representation that is much more comforting.

—In repairing the pavement of the cathedral at Rouen there has been discovered in the center of the nave a heart inclosed in a leaden box. M. Deville, the historian of the tombs of the cathdral, thinks that the heart may be that of Sibylla, wife of Robert II, Duke of Normandy.

—"Three trays and an ace!" said one of the oldest inhabitants, as he stepped up to the stamp window at the post office, and laid down a ten cents piece of currency. The clerk at the window "didn't see it" until he had looked over his copy of "Hoyle." Then he dealt out three three-cent and a one-cent stamp. The oldest inhabitant passed silently out.

—Louis Lanier, of Texas, has put in a claim for the city of Nashville. He is a grandson of one Litton Lanier, who settled a man over seventy years ago, and fled from what is now Tennessee, leaving 320 acres of land, on which the city of Nashville stands. About forty years ago an attempt was made by Governor Wise, of Virginia, to push this claim, but so much excitement was created that it was abandoned.

—The department of agriculture, under the head of "facts from official sources," states that southern pinelands are worth more per acre than the best uplands of the northwest. Throughout the south large quantities of wild lands are still open to homestead settlers. It is furthermore states, as one of the peculiar advantages of southern products, that the judicious cultivator is enabled to raise a much greater value per acre than is possible at the north.

—It would ruin some poor men to be obliged to pay the taxes paid by Mr. Stewart on three buildings which he owns in the city. His wholesale store is valued at $850,000, on which he pays a tax of $23,800. His retail store is down for $1,160,000, with taxes amounting to $32,000. The humble cot in which he seeks repose at night is priced at $600,000, on which his taxes are $16,000. Here is the matter of $72,000 which one man pays for taxes on only his residence and place of business.

—A priest who was examining a confirmation class in the south of Ireland, [illegible], asked, "What is the sacrament of matrimony?" A bright little girl at the head of the class answered, "A state of torment which vows enter to prepare better worrud." "That's the way to purgatory," said the priest, looking down fust of the class," said the priest. "Leave her alone," replied the priest, "for anything you or I know to the contrary she may be perfectly right."

—The accident is related in connection with the recent Fall River disaster, in which whose three daughters fell, still believes them to be living, when the factory whistle blows at dinner, the woman, who is borne away by the crowd, takes a tin pail and starts for home. What we Have Won.

The victories of last week were not won under any dubious new-fangled banner. They were not fought under the auspices of the noble agricultural organization that could, if it would, govern the country; nor were they liberal republican triumphs, or the results of any new combination of conservative voters; but alike in Arkansas and Indiana, in West Virginia and Ohio, they were triumphs of the time-honored democratic organization, led by trusted democratic leaders and conducted upon good democratic principles. These victories have thoroughly demonstrated the necessity that requires the continuance of that organization, and no man can be found who longer doubts its enduring vitality. The political divisions are now established beyond all peradventure, and the next presidential campaign will be a square fight between the democracy and those republicans who have not lost faith in the administration. All conservatives will thenceforth abandon diverting side issues and third-party movements, and rally to the only standard that can lead to victory. There are already indications of this, especially in New York, where the liberal republicans of last year are rapidly joining the democratic ranks. The journals that were engaged in fostering a new party have dropped the matter like a hot potatoe, and are singing hosannas to the old organization again. And perhaps the greatest good that the October elections have brought us consists in this fact; for they have convinced all the opponents of the administration that the democratic party is the sole rallying front for future contests.

It is a gratifying fact that the revolution, which is progressing in the politics of the country, will be carried forward to the hour of triumph by the organization that has withstood the blasts of adverse fortune. This revolution received its grand impetus in the astonishing revelations of corruption in radical circles during the past eighteen months, and its course has been steadily onward. We may be sure that it will not now be arrested short of a full triumph. Its achievements already foretaken that glorious event. The next senate will contain not less than thirty democrats and liberals to forty-three radicals, and two years more of the present tide will entirely change the complexion of the partizan and tyrannical body. But our immediate hopes are in the next house of representatives. If that can be carried—and it seems almost certain—the battle is more than half won. A clear democratic majority in the next house would have a moral effect that would send tens of thousands of voters into the democratic camp. It would enable the opponents of the administration to uncover the corruptions that have attended radical ascendency, and the investigations of its committees would furnish enough campaign material to overwhelm all opposition. These hidden secrets are waiting for the light, and we must strain every nerve to put men in congress who will lay bare the frauds and abuses of the last twelve years. If Georgia chooses a solid democratic delegation next month he will do her duty, and if the other states do proportionately as well the next presidency will no longer be in doubt. The October elections have laid low Grant's unnatural ambition, and the November elections should sound the knell of all other radical hopes and plans.

The victory of October is full of meaning in every way we look at it. It means everything that we prize, and means a reverence in our own nation which the return to the principles by which it can Union was perpetuated. It means that the wisest and wisest men shall direct our affairs. It means economy, purity and decreased taxation. It means the constitution and the rights of the states. It means peace and rest and local self government. It means an eternal farewell to military terrorism and interference by the federal power in the affairs of the sovereign states.

Are not these things worth a struggle? All are possible if we secure the next house of representatives. Without it all that has been gained may turn to ashes on our lips. Let us do our duty. We have no easy fight. The nine districts of Georgia can only be carried by activity and vigilance. Every democratic vote must be polled. In some of the districts this is absolutely essential to success—in all it is wise.

WE acknowledge the receipt of a handsome pamphlet of 174 pages, bearing the imprint of Thomas Gilbert, of Columbus, Ga. It is the first part of John H. Martin's history of Columbus, which begins with its selection as a "trading town" in 1827, and proposes to give every accessible fact of interest down to its partial destruction by Wilson's cavalry in 1865. Mr. Martin has prepared the volume before us in the thorough, methodical and conscientious manner that characterizes all his journalistic work, and the result is an invaluable contribution to the history of Columbus and the country tributary to it. Part second will begin with the year 1846, and bring the history of the city down to the close of the war.

YOUNG DELANO and his associate commissioners have certified that the Union Pacific railroad is all that the law requires. They extol every body connected with its management; and now nothing remains to be secured but the approval of the president and a formal acceptance of Oakes Ames huge speculation as a completed structure, to entitle the railroad company to a patent for 12,000,000 acres of the richest lands that the Government holds. Add to these acres the millions that the credit mobilier stole, and the result is an attenuated bankrupt concern that is already in default to the government for millions of interest money on its endorsed bonds. Such are the results of radical rule.

Hon. Jefferson Davis has received a letter from the secretary of the Mississippi Valley Society, an English company with large means, requesting him to serve as one of the board of directors of the proposed steamship line between New Orleans and Liverpool, measures for the establishment of which are now assuming definite shape. Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire, and some of these days the south will corner the direct trade problem and solve it.

WE hope our readers will not forget the concert of the Beethoven society tonight. To our visitors we would simply say that this concert will bring to the footlights as fine musical talent as our city contains. We hope the efforts of the Beethovens to promote the musical tastes of our people, and in that way to refine and lift them up, will be met by generous responses to-night.

LANDAULET WILLIAMS will have his hands full, now that he has determined to do the constabulary work of several southern states. He is receiving many applications, none of which he can logically decline. One of the latest comes from a negress in Sumter county, Alabama, who wants the United States officers to get her husband back from another negress.

THE comptroller-general states that taxes haves been coming in very handsomely for the last few days. A better showing than at this date last year.

GENERAL L. J. GARTRELL AT JONESBORO.

A Stirring Speech on the Issues of the Day.

Editors Constitution:—In obedience to the wishes of many friends Gen. L. J. Gartrell addressed the people of Clayton county, at Jonesboro, on Saturday, the 17th inst. A large crowd assembled at the courthouse to listen to the words of wisdom as they fell from the lips of their old leader, tried and true.

He expressed his happiness at being able, after years of ostracism and banishment from public life, to meet again his old friends.

He then took up the history of political parties in this country since the formation of this government and showed that the measures of the radical party inevitably tended either to anarchy on the one hand, or centralization and empire on the other. That the differences between the old whig and democratic parties were honest differences; that both were striving for the good of the country, but that the radical party desired nothing but the emoluments of office and to feast amid the wreck and ruin of the nation. Owing to the divisions among ourselves Mr. Lincoln, a minority president, was elected in 1860. The war then commenced, was prosecuted, and the radical party pretending that their only desire was to preserve the union entire, we laid down our arms in good faith and returned to our homes.

Then with a reckless disregard of former promises they commenced the diabolical scheme of southern degradation, unprecidented in the history of the world.

Not satisfied with passing the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution they proscribed our best citizens, offered a premium for ignorance, and sent among us a horde of vandals and thieves to plunder us of the small pittance left us by the war.

They organized the negroes into leagues and arrayed them against us, the negroes' best friends. There was no antagonism existing between the races prior to that time nor would there have been any had we been left to ourselves.

The old masters were kind to their former slaves. Our interests are identical with the negroes' interest, and had we been left alone, all now would have been harmony and prosperity.

They have every right the white people have; they are tried by the same law; they can vote and hold office, and every right possessed by the whites is guaranteed by our government and laws to the negro. What more could any people ask. They are educated out of the public fund; out of the taxes paid by the white people. Yet the radical party seeking to degrade the white race below the negro, continue to push on their nefarious measures to the destruction of both races.

They seek to make the negro our social equal, but in this they never can succeed.

The measure is too loathsome for contemplation. The civil rights bill stinks in the nostrils of every gentleman. It showed that our worst fears were identical with those set out in the declaration of independence. He said that they had kept among us in time of peace, standing armies without the consent of our legislatures; that they had combined to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws.

That they had sent hither swarms of officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.

Look at South Carolina; at Louisiana. Grant there placed a corrupt judge in office and then turned out the legal government at the point of the bayonet and installed in its stead a band of carpet baggers and thieves. He then stations himself behind the decision of a corrupt court, the emissaries of his own party. The people rose in virtue. They turned out ceased to be baggers and thieves and set up the rightful government. The electric Wires soon heralded the news to the capitol that Louisiana had broken her chains and her people were free.

But how soon was the glittering phantom to pass away, soon the tramp of soldiers is heard marching to the south; the emissaries of despotism and the instruments of slavery are at work. The chains of Louisiana are forged anew; the government of the people is pulled down and the carpet-bag government is again erected in its stead. This is the work of a man who would have the effrontery to ask the people to elect him to a third term.

He then spoke in an able manner upon the laws of the state and the state government, of the necessity of economy and living within our incomes and of the reduction of the taxes, &c.

In conclusion he exhorted the people to come out to the polls and vote at the coming congressional election.

He said that his old friend, Col. Glenn, had been defeated by an over-confidence in the party.

He spoke highly of Col. Candler as being a man of ability and a christian gentleman, and exhorted them all to come out and vote for him in November. He spoke eloquently against a third term, and said that under no circumstances ought a man to advocate a third term. That we have a centennial in 1876, and that he wanted another centennial by the triumph of the principles upon which this government was founded, and the election of a democratic president.

Such is a brief outline of Gen. Gartrell's speech, one of the ablest ever made in Georgia. JUNIUS.

The Late Row in Nebraska.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

OMAHA, NEBRASKA, October 20.—The latest information from Kearney, Nebraska, the scene of the late outrages committed by the Texas herders in that the rowdies to the number of about 30 who had camped on an Island on the Platte river a few miles from town have broken camp, and are moving to the south. They found that the people had determined to trifle with them no longer, and that it was becoming too hot for them. Every thing at Kearney is now quiet, but a strong night patrol is still kept on duty guarding the town from any farther trouble. Several wealthy stock owners from Texas who are the employers of the herders concerned in the late fight in this city, have expressed great indignation at the disgraceful conduct of the men, and say that they will use every effort in their power to bring them to justice. The two wounded Texans now at Kearney are still alive, but will not be likely to recover.

Trouble in the Radical Camp.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

NEW YORK, October 20.—The New York World in a special from Augusta, Maine, says, Speaker Blaine left this city at noon yesterday, for the political field in New York where he goes as reported to raise funds and do all in his power to prevent if possible the turning of the tide. He is reported here as being severely alarmed at the situation.

Charles Bradlaugh arrived from Liverpool in Cunard steamer Parthia yesterday.

The letters from Tammany hall will hold a mass meeting to-night to nominate a candidate for mayor.

A grand dinner to Lord Dufferin, of Canada, was given at Delmonico's last night.

A Mysterious Death in Augusta.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

AUGUSTA, GA., October 20.—The remains of Sauter, a dissipated shoemaker of this city, who very mysteriously disappeared on Wednesday last, were found this morning by a colored man two miles up the canal. A round hole in the right temple, together with a Colt's pistol found near by, of which Sauter was once owner, is evidence of the manner in which he met his death. The pistol will be turned over to Mrs Sauter.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

LONDON, October 20.—It is reported from Rio Janeiro, that General Mutre has again assumed command of the main body of the revolutionists, and had on Sunday advanced to within a few leagues of Buenos Ayres. Apprehensions are felt that the government troops will fraternize with the insurgents.

Col. Tom Scott.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

CAIRO, ILLINOIS, October 20.—Col. Tom Scott, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a large number of railroad men from London and Paris, arrived Sunday. Spent yesterday in examining the railroad situation in this section. They left for the east last night.

TEXAS ROBBERS.

The Stage from Sherman to Paris Overhauled and the Passengers Robbed—Repetition of the Hot Springs Affair, and Probably by the Same Robbers.

[Paris (Texas) Press, October 10.]

Last night the passengers on the down train from Sherman took the stages at Brookston for this city. In the first stage there were three passengers: Messrs. S. W. Mason, J. A. Sebastin and Rev. H. F. Buckner, all residents of this city. In the regular passenger coach of the El Paso stage company there were seven passengers, viz: Mr. I. M. Smith and wife, of Paris; Mrs. McMakin, the wife of Mr. R. H. McMakin, of lightning rod fame; Mr. J. H. Howard, of Chicago; Mr. G. H. Slaughter, of Houston; Mr. John H. Snyden, of St. Louis; and Mr. A. M. Hammell, of Waco.

The stages started out from the depot at Brookston at their usual time, not dreaming of danger. The first one having crossed the Pine Creek bridge debouched upon the prairie this side, and after clearing the hill, the gay whistle of the driver was brought to a sudden close by the emphatic order to "Stop that coach, or I'll blow your d——d brains out!" The driver, Mr. Greene, hot having an extra quantity of that commodity to spare, very politely reined in his steeds, and the passengers were immediately confronted with three masked men with pistols presented, and politely requested to alight. This they proceeded to do; not, however, without our friend Mason proposing to argue the proposition. But, as they stated they were not around on an argumentative tour, they prevailed on him to "light out" and take position in line, while one of the number proceeded to "go through" their pockets. From Mr. Sebastian they obtained a fine gold watch and chain and one hundred and fifty dollars in money. Our reverend friend, Mr. Buckner, was more fortunate. On telling them that he was a minister of the gospel, they desisted from searching him and left him unmolested. Mr. Mason was next called on to disgorge, and, after his usual attempt to argue the question, was relieved of some fifty dollars (having at the first alarm secreted fifty-six dollars in the lining of the coach). Mr. Greene, the driver, they let go scot free, saying that they scorned to rob a driver.

Their attention was next turned to the approaching coach, and, having been joined by two more of their companions they baited it in the same peremptory manner, and asked the male passengers to alight and form a line.

To the ladies they showed the utmost courtesy, allowing them to remain in the stage. On the first summons to stop the coach, Mr. Smith—who is the cashier of the farmers' and merchants' bank of this city—comprehending the situation, at once threw into his wife's lap three packages, containing, in the aggregate, $4000, and his fine gold watch and chain. Mrs. S. concealed the watch and chain on her person, and, taking the packages, placed them under her seat, where they remained safe through the strict search to which the coach was subjected. Mr. Smith had about twenty-eight dollars in his purse, of which he was relieved.

Mr. J. H. Howard, who was on a "commercial pilgrimage" from Chicago, representing the firm of Palmer, Fuller & Co., was next overhauled. The gentlemen of the road relieved him of his gold repeater and twenty-five dollars—he having saved a twenty dollar bill by putting it in his watch pocket.

Mr. A. M. Hammell, of Waco, was next visited, and after careful manipulation was eased of a gold watch and thirty dollars.

Mr. George H. Slaughter, who, was just returning from a nine months' trip north met with quite a warm reception by being compelled to leave, without interest or security, the remnants of his traveling money.

Mr. John H. Snyder, who had entered the state with the view of zealously guarding the interest of Caspin, Peterson & Co., of St. Louis, was argued into the necessity of divorcing the little filthy lucre with which his pockets were surcharged, and surrendered sixty-two dollars and a fine gold watch to the cormorants.

Mrs. McMakin was allowed to retain her watch and purse.

After completing their work the stages were allowed to proceed on their way, with the injunction from the leader of the band to "go slow and keep still" until they got to their destination.

The robbers had their faces well concealed by masks. The leader appeared from his conversation to be a man of education and culture and quite witty. Frequent allusion was made to the Hot Springs stage robbery; they claimed to be the same party and did not regret the trip, gave a correct account of that affair. Word was also sent to Mr. Babcock, president of the fair association that they expected to pay their respects to him during the next fair, and with many bows and regrets at the necessity of arting they bade adieu to their victims and rode off.

Word to-day that Sheriff Gose, with a strong posse, started in pursuit this morning, and, if they are in Texas, he will give them a lively chase.

Since writing the above Sheriff Gose has returned. He traced the robbers for some distance up the road, in the direction of Honey Grove. They have evidently made for that secure hiding place, the Indian nation. He has active detectives on the track.

The general impression is that they were the same gang that committed the Hot Springs stage robberry about two weeks ago.

Removal of the Capitol.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution..]

LOUISVILLE, October 20.—The national convention for the removal of the national capitol held an informal meeting to-day in the public library hall. The attendance was small. Judge Martin, of Paducah, Ky., called the meeting to order, and on motion of Judge Elliott, of Cottlesburg, K., was made temporary chairman, who returned thanks for the honor conferred on him.

There was no roll called, but the following gentlemen representing other states were present, namely:

Missouri—L. U. Reevis, F. E. Savage, S. C. Ried and J. W. Ellen.

Nebraska—J. B. Porterfield, Mr. Marsh, J. S. Gard, Dr. McNutt. Mr. Neuff, from Illinois; Judge Laird, from Indiana. A number of delegates from Kentucky were present.

L. U. Reevis, of Missouri, made a short speech, when an adjournment was voted till 3 o'clock.

From the present outlook the convention is likely to prove a grand fizzle.

Pawed by a Horse.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution]

NEW ORLEANS, October 20.—Mr. James A. Quinn was to-day severely bitten and pawed by a savage horse.

At an early hour this morning a fire broke out at the corner of Louis and Clico streets destroying two frame houses. Loss $7,000.

The farmers charitable association, to whom the city owes one thousand dollars, threaten to quit work if they are not paid.

Busteed's Successor.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

WASHINGTON, October 20.—The successor of Busteed, as United States district judge of Alabama, has not yet been determined upon. The appointment is believed to be between Lieutenant-Governor McKinsley and Gen. John Bruce, state senator, with a strong chance for Judge Noah as a compromise candidate, and other candidates are mentioned, but Governor Lewis is not, and will not be an applicant for the place.

A Fatal Hunt.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

TRENTON, N. J., October 20.—Mr. Samuel Reed was out gunning yesterday, P. M., and while searching for a bird he had killed, and putting the end of his gun into the bushes, the second barrel went off, the whole charge passed through his neck, just missing the jugular vein. It is thought that the wound will prove fatal.

The Last of William Allen.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

LONDON, October 20.—The funeral of William Allen, a prominent leader of the trades unions of this city, who was buried this morning was the occasion of a most imposing demonstration. There was a large procession, composed of members of the trades union. All classes of working people joined in cortege which followed his remains to the grave.

Von Arnim.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

BERLIN, October 20.—A judge will leave this city to-morrow for Paris for the purpose of examining the officials at the German embassy in that city, thus expediting the trial of Count Von Arnim.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The democratic executive committee of the seventh congressional district, make the following appointments for mass meetings:

Marietta, Wednesday, Oct 28; Cartersville, Friday, Oct. 30; Rome, Saturday, 31; Calhoun, Monday, Nov. 2; Hon. B. H. Hill, Hon. Jno. B. Gordon, Hon. H. V. M. Miller, Hon. Lucius J. Gartrell, Hon. P. M. B. Young, Hon. Wm. H. Dabney, Hon. J. W. Harriss, may be expected to speak at the time and places mentioned. Col. Dabney will also address his fellow-citizens at the following appointments, viz: Summerville, Thursday, Oct. 22; Cave Springs, Friday, Oct. 23; Cedartown, Saturday, Oct. 24; Buchana, Monday, Oct. 26; Dallas, Tuesday, Oct. 27; Canton, Thursday, Oct. 27.

The rampant roosters which all the democratic papers wear since they heard the news from Ohio and Indiana are not aggravating enough to sensitive republicans it appears; but the exultant opposition must devise other means of agonizing the loyal heart. This morning a dilapidated looking character, clad in the costume of the days of Andrew Jackson, appeared upon the portico of the white house. On his arm he carried a basket. From this he drew a bottle containing a fluid, which the messengers say looked like muddy water, (but it was evidently something with more snap in it,) and proceeded, after the manner of a priest at the baptismal font, to sprinkle the stone floor. Having done this to his own satisfaction he replaced the bottle in the basket and brought forth a printed placard, having upon it in large letters the word. "For rent." After placing this on one of the columns of the side of the main entrance door, he shuffled away with the satisfied air of a man who had done his duty, and was content. He don't seem to realize that this is the off year.—Washington Star.

Col. Dabney is a gentleman of fine abilities and a man of sterling integrity, against whom no charge can be brought as to his political record or private character. He is a native of Jasper county, but was raised chiefly in DeKalb county, Georgia. In 1850, he came to Cherokee, Georgia, and settled in Gordon county, where he has resided ever since until some two years ago, when he settled in Rome. Col. Dabney is about fifty-seven years old—of liberal education, and is one of the ablest lawyers at the Cherokee bar. He goes out as a candidate for congress with as strong an endorsement of unanimity as any man who ever appeared in a political canvass—all the delegates accepting him with an enthusiasm that will doubtless be felt throughout the district. He was agreed upon spontaneously, after Gen. Young's name was withdrawn, as the man who would most likely unite the party, maintain its organization and solidify its forces—leaving no excuse for any true democrat to refuse to support the nominee of his party.—Rome Courier.

The rival candidate for the Alabama judgeship, made vacant by Busteed's resignation, are Governor Lewis E. Parsons and Mr. J. J. Noe, now a $1,600 clerk in the postoffice department. Parsons was a leading conservative in 1866, but when Grant was elected went over to the strong side and figured the other day as president of the Chattanooga outrage convention. Noah is intimate with the so-called Senator Spencer, and is generally credited with writing his speech for him. It is believed that he would be, if appointed, completely under Spencer's influence. Parsons is disqualified by his passions and by other reasons even more potent. There is little doubt that the appointment will be shaped by Attorney General Williams, and that it will be made as a mere party job to put some one on the bench who will bring to bear the utmost severity of judicial tyranny on the people of Alabama in order to save the state to the republican party. The New York Itepublic, in its Washington correspondence, very coolly says that "political necessities may make the appointment of Parsons advisable." The former, as district attorney of this district, though then and now a strong republican, was removed through the influence of the Alabama radical ring because he would not pack a jury in political cases.

Robbery of Milford's Bank.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

BOSTON, October 20.—The robbing of Milford's bank was undoubtedly the work of professionals. Mr. Sawyer, the cashier, had been in the habit of leaving the key of the bank at the post office, in order to guard against such a scheme as that followed out by the robbers. The robbers were aware of this, and after placing a cord around Mr. Sawyers neck, to prevent any outcry, forced him to accompany them by threatening to kill his babe, in case he refused to comply with their demands. Arriving at the post office the robbers effected an entrance by removing a pane of glass with a diamond, and the keys of the bank were now in their possession.

STATE SUPREME COURT

Decisions Rendered in Atlanta, Ga., October 20, 1874.

Reported specially for THE CONSTITUTION by Henry Jackson, Supreme Court Reporter.

HON. HIRAM WARNER, CHIEF JUSTICE,
HONS. H. K. M'CAY AND R. P. TRIPPE, JUDGES.

Hardeman and Sparks vs. William Battersby. Equity, from Bibb.

WARNER, C. J.

This was a bill filed by the complainant as the surviving copartner of the firm af William Battersby & Co., against the defendant, in which the complainant alleges, that in May 1864, Battersby & Co., placed in the hands of one North certain cotton receipts given by the defendants as warehousemen, to have the cotton specified therein shipped to them at Savannah, the cotton being the property of complainant, that North died without having removed, or disposed of thirty bales of said cotton, that complainant is unable to find defendants, receipts for the cotton amongst the papers of North after a careful search, that the same were lost, destroyed or misplaced whilst in the possession of North and cannot be found, that complainant has demanded the cotton of defendant, which they said they would deliver on the production of their receipts, complains at them and there of fering to indemnify them from liability to any other person or persons on said cotton receipts, as he was unable to produce them, having been lost, destroyed or misplaced, as before stated. The defendants refused to deliver the cotton The complainant prays that defendants may be decreed to account to him for the value of the cotton, after allowing them all proper charges and expenses for and on account of the storage of said cotton, upon his giving bond and security as heretofore offered by him. Such are substantially the allegations of complainant's bill, which was filed in the Clerk's office, on the 19th of October, 1867, and was pending in Court without any demurrer thereto, until the 3d of January, 1874, when the complainant amended his bill, at which term of the Court the case came on for trial. The defendants then demurred to the complainant's bill, on the ground that there was no equity in it, inasmuch as the complainant had an adequate and complete remedy at common law. The Court overruled the demurrer, and the defendants excepted. The receipts for the cotton were not given by the defendants to the plaintiff, and we infer from the description given in the complainant's bill of the marks upon the several bales, that the receipts were given and delivered by the defendants to the planter, or to the parties who originally stored the cotton in their warehouse. In Patten vs. Baggs (43d Ga. Rep. 167,) it was held that where a warehouseman was sued in trover by one who claimed to be the assignee of his receipt for a number of bales of cotton, that it was not sufficient evidence of a conversion to show that the defendant refused to deliver the cotton to the claimant until the receipt was produced, or good security given, to indemnify the warehouseman. The point decided in that case, as applicable to the case now before us, is, that the defendants, as warehousemen, are entitled to be indemnified before they can be required to deliver the cotton to the plaintiff, or to account to him for its value. Before the adoption of the Code allowing the Common Law Courts to mould verdicts, as verdicts and decrees are rendered and framed in equity proceedings, there can be no doubt, we think, but a Court of equity would, in a bad jurisdiction, of the case as made by the complainants bill, for the reason that the remedy in the Common Law Court would not have been adequate to have decreed indemnity for the protection of defendants against their liability on their receipts. Inasmuch as a Court of equity would originally have had jurisdiction of the case, the fact that concurrent jurisdiction has been given to the common law Courts, does not deprive a Court of equity of the jurisdiction which it originally had; and where a Court of equity and a common law Court have concurrent jurisdiction, the Court first taking will retain it. New Code 3,666. The Court of equity in this case having first taken jurisdiction of it, the demurrer was properly overruled, the more especially, if the complainant's bill had been dismissed for want of jurisdiction, his remedy in the common law Court might have been baared by the statute of limitations.

Let the judgment of the Court below be affirmed.

R. P. Lyon, for plaintiffs in error.
Lanier & Anderson for defendant.

R. P. Patterson vs. Wm. H. Parkman et al. Claim, from Chattahoochee. TRIPPE, J.

When the levy in a claim case was dismissed by the Court, with judgment for cost for claimant, although it be for a cause which may not be a legal ground for the dismissal of the levy, yet the plaintiff in execution cannot proceed to the trial of the claim case under the same levy, unless this order of dismissal be set aside or reversed.

Judgment affirmed.

Little & Crawford, H. Bussey, by brief, for plaintiff in error.

E. G. Raiford, B. A. Thornton, by brief, for defendants.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

A Negro Row—Cheering Election News.

(By Telegraph to The Constitution.)

COLUMBIA, October 10—Dispatches from Newberry to-night state that a row occurred there to-day, in which a town marshal, a colored man, killed. There was very high excitement and a company of United States troops was called out and order was restored. A man named Hardy was arrested and lodged in jail, but it is not certainly known whether he shot the marshal or not. There were about two thousand negroes in town in attendance upon Robinson's circus.

Dissatisfaction is felt with both the Nash and Minort tickets in this county. Other nominations it is said will be made and it is probable that a Green and Delany independent republican ticket will be put in the field.

Encouraging news has been received from several points showing the growing strength of the independent movement. An enthusiastic meeting of one thousand persons was held to day, in Yorkville, addressed by General Kershaw, General Sullivan and Major Delany. Resolutions endorsing the independent candidates were adopted without a dissenting voice. General Kershaw shows great strength in his congressional district, and the feeling for reform under the banner of the independents amounts to enthusiasm.

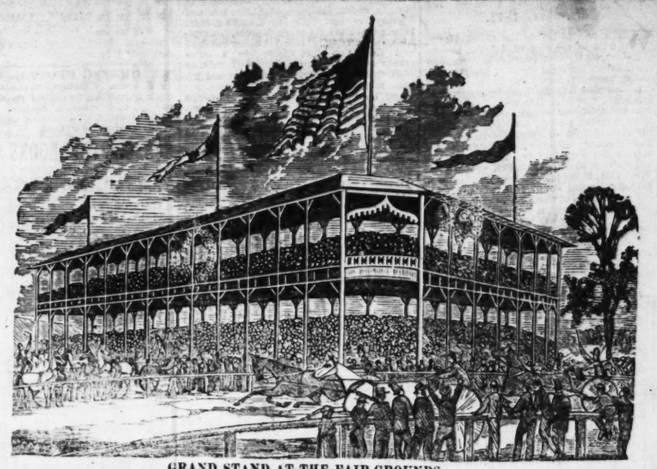
Six Thousand Persons upon the Ground.

Programme for To-day.



GRAND STAND AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

The grand carnival approaches a climax. Yesterday the grounds were pretty full of people at a very early hour. It excelled Monday in the number of visitors. Pretty much all day the view of the great circle was a brilliant one, as brilliant as a mere mass of humanity and a gay variety of costumes could make it. The tramp of moving throngs the hum of thousands of voices, the hoof beats of the racers on the ring, and the blare of trumpets rose all day over the arena and mingled with the clank of machinery and the notes of the steam whistle, making altogether a very animated accompaniment for a most inspiring spectacle.

It is unnecessary to speak of the weather, for this portion of the programme is arranged and performed by the elements in a simply perfect manner. The sky all day was as clear and soft as the bright eye of a lovely woman.

THE MANAGEMENT.

From the president down, in all the departments; the Mayor of Atlanta and all connected with him, all are satisfied. We have heard of no complaints, no invidious comparisons, nor have we seen anyone that did not express perfect satisfaction not merely with the matter, but the manner of the fair.

THE POLICE force is conducting itself admirably; they are uniformly courteous and watchful.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

have no reason to complain of their treatment. Attentions are rendered them in that genial and open-handed style which they admire.

MUSIC.

Good music is thoroughly enjoyed when the spirits are strung to concert pitch by the presence of a large crowd gathered to witness such scenes as these, and the directors have exhibited unimpeachable taste in the means they have taken to secure this all important portion of the entertainment. Under the direction of Dr. Wurm, the Gate City band played choice music all through the day.

THE LADIES

in pretty large numbers were on the grounds, and in the various halls during the day. It was pleasant to see them rapidly survey, with exclamations of delight, the various articles before them. There were ladies of all styles present, handsome and plain, richly dressed and cheaply dressed. The reporter has rarely seen so many beautiful ladies collected at a fair.

Audience Hall.

So hurried was our visit to this department on Monday, that justice was not done by us in our notice of the articles on exhibition. Here, too, other entries have been made.

The beautifully arranged space occupied by the courteous gentlemen who represent Fairbank's scales, continued to draw a large share of attention. As in their energy in the preparation of banners, their taste in the arrangement of their part of the hall, and the beautiful as well as accurate and durable articles exhibited by them.

Messrs. Mayson & Norman, of Atlanta, exhibit a very handsome walnut set of bookfurniture.

Henry P. Safford, of Atlanta, exhibits very neat and attractive show cases.

Gordonsville chair manufacturing company, Virginia, exhibits two very handsome rocking chairs, cane backs, and open wooden bottoms.

Messrs. Longley and Robinson, of Atlanta, had everything complete in their space, and made an excellent display of home-made doors, sash, mouldings, etc.

Mr. Darwin G. Jones, besides his pretty display of vinegars, also has acidometers for testing the strength of vinegar.

Messrs. Newton and Russell, of Athens, exhibit specimens of the bobbins and spools from their bobbin mills at Athens.

M. M. Barry, of Rome, exhibits a safety cart truck.

C. P. Knight displays specimens of prepared paints from a New jersey house.

A. C. Ladd, of Atlanta, exhibits his alkaline fertilizers; also his solid copper lightning rods.

James M. Cox, of Greene county, exhibits the finest corn the reporter ever saw, of the white gourd seed variety. He raised eight bushels to the acre—one hundred and thirty barrels on twelve acres.

Clayton county enters potatoes, wheat, oats rye, barley, rice, eight varieties of peas, beets, turnips, etc., for the premium.

Clayton county also enters four bales of cotton.

J. C. Peck & Co., Atlanta, make a fine display of stair posts, railing, doors etc.

Fine Arts Department.

Yesterday's exposition was far better than on the preceding day in the hall devoted to articles entered in this class. The wa ls of the upper room were covered with tapestries, pictures, curtains, wreaths, worsted work, and hundreds of attractive little things which lend a charm to the place. In this department are many things which merit special admiration. In the upper room there are several fine pictures from Guilford, Wood & Co's., and occasionally through the day the atmosphere of the locality was impregnated with glad and sunny melodies.

We have referred to all of the sewing machines on exhibition in this hall, with the exception of the Domestic, which space had not been filled on Monday. They make a fine display.

On exhibition is a very beautiful and fine Singer sewing machine. It is to be raffled off during the fair for the benefit of the Ladies' benevolent association of Atlanta, at the ladies' bazaar.

H. D. Brier & Co., of Atlanta, exhibit various articles from their novelty house.

A. N. Oldfield & Co., of Atlanta, exhibit Morse telegraph instruments.

Thomas Pullum & Co., of Atlanta, have, since Monday, filled their space with a very beautiful assortment of home manufactured perfumery. They also make a fine display of their chemical preparations.

Mrs. C. H. Plane, of Macon, exhibits a most beautiful wax cotton plant, perfect, with its blooms, its bolls, and its open cotton.

Mrs. C. H. Plane, of Macon, also exhibits some very delicate and pretty skeleton flowers.

Miss Narcissa Welch, of Athens, displays a very beautiful specimen of her work being an infant's robe dress, made by hand. It is tucked and ruffled most exquisitely.

Horace Bradley, a ten year old Atlanta boy, exhibits a fine specimen of penmanship. It is a accurate representation of Toccoa Falls, and by the side of it, a poem beautifully written.

Mr. B. Mallon exhibits 35 maps, and 29 drawings from the High School of Atlanta.

Miss "Georgia Singer," exhibits a very tastily and richly dressed doll.

Miss L. D. Bard, of Atlanta, exhibits a case of beautiful articles, among them exquisitely embroided underwear for ladies: gun els, slippers, pin cushions, etc.

Miss Lelia Cooper, of LaGrange, deserves a more extended notice than our space warrants, for beautifully wrought card box, infant's basket, hair pin receiver, mouchoir chase, lamp maps, glove box, applique work, toilet sets, and embroidered handkerchief.

Mrs. L. J. Wade, of Atlanta; displayed thirty pieces of embroidery, applique work and braiding. As the visitors gazed upon these beautiful and exquisite children's dresses, children's sacks, piano cover, cashmere opera cloak, et c., the doubtless many were tempted to break the rule of the decalogue which declares, "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods."

A lady of Florida exhibits a very beautiful and chaste set of hair ornaments and broaches, made of fish scales and fish shells.

Dade county sends fine specimens of iron ore, slate and coal.

Mrs. E. W. ——, of Charleston, South Carolina, exhibits leather bracelets; also leather basket; being the natural leather, unvarnished and very pretty.

E. R. Everett, of Atlanta, exhibits very beautiful specimens of home made jewelry.

Dr. B. F. Ulmer, of Savannah, exhibits a very choice and delightful specimen of his extracts, among them the "Gem of Savannah." He also exhibits excellent colognes, medicinal extracts, tooth powders, and a very excellent medicine for the liver.

Col. Capers, of Covington exhibits two very charming oil portraits of his children, a girl and a boy.

R. H. Knapp, of Atlanta, exhibits six handsome water colored drawings, two oil paintings, two pencil drawings, one sepia drawing and two India ink drawings.

Miss Fannie Mitchell, of Harris county, exhibits a very pretty rustic picture.

Mrs. F. M. Morefield, of Atlanta, exhibits a very pretty oil painting of the Confederate monument in the Atlanta cemetery.

Miss Fannie Mitchell, of Harris, exhibits a beautiful Masonic picture of rustic work. A rustic family photograph scene, by the same young lady, is much admired.

Miss Annie Face, of Covington, exhibits some well executed and pretty pencil sketches.

Miss Mattie Buford, of Athens, exhibits a piece of tapestry work, being General Lee. It attracts much notice.

In addition to his other pictures, Mr. Mat O'Brien, of Augusta, exhibits a very much admired picture, being "new readings of old songs."

Miss Sterchi, of Atlanta, exhibits 85 pictures, the work of her pupils. Many of them are very attractive and pretty.

There are a large number of pictures on exhibition, the work of the young Misses of Atlanta. Quite a number of them are the pupils of Mrs. Corput. The care and taste, and qualifications of this lady can all be seen in the specimens exhibited by the girls who are taught by her.

Miss Amanda Davidson, of Charlotte, North Carolina, exhibits three very handsome crayons. Their beauty and excellent execution, is deserving of notice

Mrs. Fry, of Atlanta, exhibits an exquisite bouquet of wax flowers.

In our notice of Monday, we failed to do justice to the articles exhibited by Mrs. Edgar A. Ross of Macon. A large number of beautiful things had not been placed in position. Exhibiting such exquisite taste and skill, and taking the care and trouble in preparing and bringing to the fair so handsome a display, we give a list of the articles which draws so much attention to the space occupied by her in the hall: Four paintings: the Future, Beatrice, God's Acre, and Duck Shooting; pressed flowers; skeletonized leaves and birds: rustic work, picture frames, card receivers and cross: imitation coral work, vase and bowl stands: shell work, violet stand and cigar stand, moss work, cross: straw work, picture frames and card basket, feather work, flowers, butterfly, fly brush, muff, duster: and of worsted work, slippers, needle cushion and chrocheted afghan: embroidery in cotton, silk, linen and worsted: infant's dress bonnet, pillow shams, child's overskirt: baby's suit embroidered in lace: bead work, a tooth brush rack, spectacle case, a lady's belt: in pain sewing: a sun bonnet for a child, shirt and a pair of drawers. Fine silk quilt.

In tidies—mosquito net, darned, Waffle canvas, Java canvas, worked in cross stitch. In applique work—a piano cover, glove box, pin cushion and mouchoir case. A bouquet of grasses: lamp shade, cravats deck ties and bows, samples of netting, knitting, darning, crow-footing, heron bone, hem stitching, chain stitching and braiding. If Mrs. Ross does not deserve a premium for the finest and largest display of female handicraft, who does?

Horticultural Hall.

The exquisite taste displayed in the arrangement of flowers and plants, is highly creditable to the various exhibitors, and calls forth much praise from the admiring crowd. Here are quite a number of flowers of strange beauty and delicate perfume.

In this hall there is quite a display of apples, while vegetables have not been neglected.

Mr. Rickett, of Atlanta, exhibited quite a large and beautiful boquet of flowers.

Mrs. E. A. Jones, of Thomasville, exhibits some beautiful Grape Fruit, it resembles the orange.

The Constitution of yesterday referred to the articles exhibited by Mr. Cole, also of Mr. Lambert, and gave a list of the exhibitors of apples.

Home Industry Department.

Having gazed into the open mouth of a potato bag, also the jo-und face of a well fed pumpkin, the reporter went into the above hall. Corn bread and Graham bis cuit divide the honors with beautiful silks and satins in this hall.

There is a rich display of well wrought garments and beautiful laces and unwrought patterns of things lovely and attractive to women's eyes, in this hall. There are many evidences here of beautiful things, products of the patient labor and refined taste of our fair country women. These articles fitly represent their domestic virtues.

Mrs. L. F. Blalock, of Fayetteville, exhibits a raised work piano cover, which attracts universal admiration; also, a raised worked rug and raised worked fire screen, which is worth the entrance fee to look at.

Miss Meta McBaws, of Augusta, exhibits a very beautiful silk quilt.

Mrs. Isaac Steinheimer, of Atlanta, displays a blue merino sack for a child, very beautifully embroidered with white silk.

Miss Mattie Goodwin, of Dalton, exhibits a handsome willow basket.

Miss Florence Kilby, of Atlanta, displays a beautifully cut and made calico dress; she also exhibits a very handsome black applique apron.

Miss Lizzie Norton, twelve years old, of South Carolina, niece of Mrs. ex-Governor Brown, deserves a great deal of praise for a very beautiful embroidered chair; also for two pairs of slippers.

Mrs. Mary Maulding, aged seventy years, of Alpharetta, exhibits a very pretty and well made laid work quilt.

Mrs. M. A. Barnett, of Atlanta, makes a very much admired display. She has an iced cake representing the coat of arms of Georgia. Above the arch is a white satin flag; on it is inscribed, "Georgia, the Empire State." On the arch is inscribed in gold letters, "Constitution." Inscriptions on the three pillars—wisdom, justice and moderation. Between two of the pillars stands an officer with a drawn sword. On the base of the cake is inscribed "Georgia's Resources," and the base and pillars are small specimens of iron, marble, slate, quartz, mica, lime, copper, and granite.

Mrs. Barnett also exhibits a handsome pyramid cake, the base or bower cake is fruit, the next round, next cocoanut, next silver, next sponge, surmounted with a harp. Mrs. Barnett also exhibits some exceedingly beautiful preserves, jellies, and canned fruits.

John Brieser, of Fulton, exhibits some very handsome butter.

Mrs. J. J. Toon exhibits some delicious cooking and beautifully arranged butter.

Mrs. Hanson, of Morgan, exhibits very beautiful specimens of light rolls, crackers and soda biscuits.

Miss Mary Fielding, of Madison, exhibits a very charming looking ornamented pound cake. The reporter is convinced could he sample it, he would pronounce it a "success."

Mrs. Pollard, of Atlanta, makes an exceedingly handsome display of thirteen kinds of bread, including light rolls, Swiss rolls, Sally Lunn's, egg bread, waffles, light bread, cottage bread, Madison cakes, sea foam biscuit, and French rolls.

Miss Hattie Rhodes, of Atlanta, pretty, and only fourteen years of age, makes a beautiful display of breads, consisting of light bread, corn muffins, soda biscuit, light rolls, and rusks. There is a bow of promise to that young man hereafter who ——

Mrs. E. Whaley, of Fulton, exhibits a very beautiful assortment of jellies, pickles, cordials, syrups, and jams, being sixty-seven varieties.

Mrs. J. M. Johnson, of Atlanta, exhibits, and the reporter knows, a most beautiful and meritorious assortment of breads and cake. For fruit, pound, or sponge cake; for rolls, muffins, corn bread, and soda biscuit, can she be excelled?

Mrs. W. P. Robinson, of Atlanta, exhibits thirty varieties of bread. They are all very beautiful and doubtless very delicious.

THE GRAND STOCK REVIEW.

The grand review of the entire horse department, consisting of horses of all classes, mules, jacks and jennets, came off, as had been announced, precisely at ten o'clock. The display was magnificent, and was pronounced by numbers to beat anything of the kind ever before seen at a Georgia state fair. The animals were led out by their grooms into the race track, while the line came very near reaching completely around. The exhibition, as seen from the enumeration below, included every head of stock, and was orgaulzed solely for the purpose of display.

Cobb county came out very strong in the way of fine horse flesh, and her citizens have great reason to be proud of the display made by their sterling old county.

Tennessee contributed a number of very fine stock also, while Gwinnet and other counties did very creditable.

SPECTATORS AND JUDGES.

The spectators gathered by thousands upon the terraces and stands, while the horses were lead around the arena. They were all, including the ladies, deeply interested in the review, and greeted their favorite horses with repeated cheers.

The review was in charge of Col. James H. Fannin, of LaGrange, Ga., vice-president from the fourth district. He was assisted by Mr. S. Morris, of Marietta. The review was inspected by Gens. A. H. Colquitt, William M. Browne and other prominent officials of the state agricultural society.

THE STOCK—GEORGIA HORSES.

The entries inclu led Georgia raised horses of all kinds, thoroughbred horses, harness and saddle horses. The following horses were exhibited:

J Minor, of Gwinnett county, splendid bay stallion

Grogan & Roberts, stallion "Mac," a large, powerful horse.

R. Martin, of Bartow county, bay stallion, "Big Indian."

W. C. Dickson, of Cobb county, splendid 8 year old bay stallion.

John Pound, of Barnesville, 8 year old bay stallion, "Joe Lottery."

E. G Huie, of Clayton county—Splendid bay stallion, Canadian.

J. T. Peddle, of LaGrange—Beautiful white and black spotted stallion, "Kirkby." This splendid animal is just Arabian and Steele. He is five years old and has his record to make.

M. G. Hight, of Covington—Dark sorrel stallion "Goldust."

Ben Winslow, of Greenville—Large chestnut sorrel stallion, two years old. This colt is by "Prince Pulaski," out of "Glencoe." Although only two years old he is 15½ hands high, and one of the finest specimens of horse flesh exhibited.

B F. Swanton, of Decatur—Magnificent black stallion, 6 years old.

Captain Stan y, of Cobb county—Black Morgan stallion, 8 years old.

J. t. Peddle, of LaGrange—Sorrel mare, "Ellen Cobb."

J. C. Carroll, of Gwinnett county—Grey horse, "Blue John." Entered for the second best saddle

THOROUGH BREDS.

J. W. Walker—black thorough bred stallion.

A. W. Lynn, of Bartow county—splendid sorrel stallion, "Red Algeron" with ten of his colts. This was pronounced one of the best displays made, and has been rarely equalled.

General Hudson, of Tennessee, sorrel filly and four mile racer, entered G. A. M. Lynn.

W. W. Cole, of Gordon county, thorough bred mare and colt, "Whirlwind stock."

M. G. Cole, of Cobb county—"Black Hawk," morgan horse with 10 colts. The colts followed their sire in the line, and are all splendid horses. Probably the most prominent among them is "Spider," the winner of the afternoon's trotting match.

J. G. Anderson, of Cobb county, thorough bred mare and colt.

George Cook, of Fulton county, sorrel mare.

E. T. Payne, Jr., of Cobb county, Canadian mare.

H. G. Cole, of Marietta, pair of white and black carriage horses, thoroughbred.

R. C. Kerr, of Marietta, pair of thoroughbred sorrels.

C. C. Skillman, of Eufaula, Ala., pair of mealy mouthed white and dotched horses, trotters, named "Thunder and Lightning."

G. H. Sample, the horse tamer, pair of beautiful white Canadian and Arabian ponies.

R. Haight, of Atlanta, sorrel buggy horse, combination stock, part Canadian.

F. D. Thurman, of Atlanta, sorrel buggy horse.

M. J. Doyle, of Savannah, stylish chestnut sorrel mare "Nellie."

Gate City Fire company, of Atlanta, pair of matched sorrel horses.

J. T. Peddle—thoroughbred bay gelding.

Robert Kerr, of Cobb county—"Black Hawk."

M. C. Martin, of Atlanta—beautiful thoroughbred mare, running stock, "Lady Blanca."

C. L. Montgomery, of Rome—thoroughbred, Georgia raised, sired by "Prarie."

E. J. Dupree—sorrel mare "Anna Lee;" also her colt, "Little Mack."

A. A. Simmons, of Walker county—thoroughbred 13 months old colt, "Albert Sidney Johnson;" sire "Lexington," dam "Lady Morgan."

A. A. Simmons, of Walker county—thoroughbred Morgan mare, "Betty."

Richmond Green, colored, of Fulton county—Georgia raised sorrel mare, "Gray Eagle;" also three other Georgia raised horses.

Gus Hurt—sorrel mare, and three year old roan colored colt.

F. M. Mullins, of Cobb county—three fine grays, horses of all work, Georgia raised.

E. N. Camp of Milton county—spleindid two year old Georgia raised filly.

J. S. Crawford, of Chattanooga—sorrel stallion, sired by "Lexington."

MULES AND JACKS.

Robert Kerr, of Cobb county, pair of magnificent Georgia raised mules.

T. J. Ellis, of Cave Spring, fine Georgia raised jack, "Johnnie Reb."

L. W. Knight, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., Spanish jack, "Ben Franklin," a beautiful specimen. Also, one "mammoth" jack and a very fine jennet, "Black Maria."

This closed the grand review, with which the spectators were more than pleased.

CONTEST OF SADDLE HORSES—SPECIAL PREMIUMS BY THE CITY.

The interesting contest for the best saddle horses was next in order, and was opened punctually at two o'clock P. M. No premiums, beyond ribbon badges, were offered by the state society, but the city with a liberality that was well appreciated, offered the three following special premiums:

To the best saddle horse or mare, $50; second best, $25; third best, $10.

The following gentlemen were appointed judges for the occasion:

Dr. L. W. Knight, William Smith, Sam'l Black, J. A. S. Anderson and A. A. Simmons.

J. W. Cook, of Atlanta, entered bay mare, "Sallie."

J. C. Carroll, of Gwinnet county, iron grey horse.

J. T. Peddy, sorrel mare, "Ellen Cobb."

Horses were also entered by Dr. M. C. Martin, Charles Tarpley, S. L. Whalley, T. J. Aidrick, C. C. Skillman (two horses), Dr. E. L. Connally, J. M. Crook, R. S. Johnson. The contest was watched by the spectators with nearly as much interest as the judges themselves. The horses were ridden around in a circle, the judges in the centre, and then stopped for minute inspection. The announcement of the premiums were received with repeated cheers from the crowd.

C. C. Skillman took the first premium on his sorrel horse.

J. T. Peddy, the second premium on his sorrel mare, "Ellen Cobb."

J. Tarpley, the third, on his sorrel horse.

THE RACES.

The postponed trotting match of Monday for the society purse of $175 was completed yesterday at one o'clock, Judges—J. S. Crawford, W. J. Wootten and S. C. Black. The horses were Henry Kulink's Hamestring; Rip, entered by M. G. Whitlock, of Cobb county, and Rebel, by H. B. Seals, of Eufaula, Alabama.

THE HEAT.

The horses got a good start at once, Hamestring to the lead, and kept it throughout, with Rip close behind. Rebel trotted well but broke several times and fell a little behind. Hamestring won the heat and race. Time—2:38 1-2; Rip second, Rebel third. This gave Hamestring the prize of $100 Rip $50, and Rebel $25. The victorious horse, Hamestring, is a splendid bay, about eight years old and over fifteen hands high. His father is the well known Frank Allen.

THE SECOND TROTTING MATCH.

This was a trotting match for a special purse of $175, offered by the city of Atlanta. Mile heats, best three in five. The winning horse to receive $100, the second $50, and the third $25.

This race was only open to horses who have never beaten 2:40.

The judges were Dr. L. W. Knight, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., A. A. Simmons, of LaFayette, Ga., W. Smitha, of Eufaula, Ala., L. Owel, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and J. G. Crawford, Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE ENTRIES.

Mr. Phil Pryor entered "Spider." This horse is partly Morgan, bay, with black mane and tail, and about seven years old. He comes from Columbus, and is a great favorite among horse men of that section.

Mr. Sam Black, of Nashville, entered "Lucy," a graceful and fast going bay mare.

Mr. J. Doyle, of Savannah, entered "Faughaballagh," bay trotting horse, 16 hands high.

S. W Crawford, Nashville, Tenn., entered a fine large gray trotter.

FIRST HEAT.

Several false starts were made before the horses got off together. The gray horse took the lead but was passed by Spider, who retained the lead to the end of the heat. The other horses kept close together but Faugh-aballagh broke several times. The heat was won by Spider—Time 3:06; Faugh-aballah, second; gray horse, third; Lucy, fourth.

SECOND HEAT.

The horses started off well together in this heat, but Spider quickly demonstra ed that the others were no match for him. He showed them his heels from the first jump. The gray horse trotted steadily and beautifully in this heat and kept close behind. Lucy fell far behind. The heat was won by Spider—Time 2:44; gray horse second; Faugh-aballagh third; Lucy distanced.

THIRD AND LAST HEAT.

This heat was very similar to the second, Spider leading and the gray horse close behind. Faugh-aballagh broke badly. Spider won this heat and the race—Time 2:46½; gray horse second, Faugh-aballagh distanced.

BETTING AND EXCITEMENT.

The excitement among the spectators upon the stands and terraces was immense. Each time the horses passed they were greeted with cheer upon cheer. The pool selling at the judges' stand was lively. "Spider" was the favorite, but a plenty of bets were taken against him, and consequently a plenty of money changed hands. More money was won and lost upon this race than any that has previously taken place.

MULE RACING.

Upon the completion of the programme for the day, a mule race, with three entries, was started. This race occasioned the liveliest fun, but didn't amount to very much. Two of the mules ran very well, but the third preferred the stick to the exercise, and so his nigger driver beat away without accomplishing any perceptible results.

WAGONS.

The display of wagons was very large and fine. Several of the largest manufactories in the country were represented. Several styles of the famous Studebaker wagons were exhibited. These wagons have a widespread reputation.

James, Roosa & Co., of Memphis, had on exhibition several wagons manufactured by themselves.

The Milburn wagon, manufactured in Mishawaka, Indiana, was also exhibited.

Fish Brothers wagons were exhibited by J. Ben Wilson & Co.

CARRIAGES.

Johnson & Woodruff have greatly increased their display of vehicles, among which the famous Concord buggies attract special attention. Several fine carriages are also exhibited by the same firm.

BRINLY, THE PLOW MAN,

is on hand with his genial countenance. He says he never made so large a display of his plows before as he has at our fair. He has on exhibition all imaginable styles and forms of plows. The display is large and attractive. The plows are made of the finest cast steel and present a fine finish. They will not grow blunt in the roughest soil. Mr. Brinly's garden plow is the most complete and unique thing of the kind we have ever seen. A lady can manage it with ease and work women-rs in a garden. To-day Mr. Brinly will give a practical test of his plows, which he will conduct in person. It will be well worth seeing.

The famous Watt plows are exhibited by Mr. J. Ben Wilson. Mr. Watt himself is on the grounds displaying his invention.

Mr. Wilson also exhibits the beautiful Avery plows which are manufactured in Louisville.

STOKES SAYRE,

of Cartersville, has on exhibition his patent bale tie fastener, which is said to render the process of bagging cotton much easier.

Mr. W. E. Dickson displays a superior churn recently patented by himself. It stirs the milk very rapidly and makes the process of churning much shorter.

Machinery Hall.

This important department was fully arranged Monday and presented an attractive appearance. Just outside of it were displayed the

COTTON PRESSES.

Winship Brothers, of our city have several of their presses up and in work g order. The Smith cotton press, manufactured by Neblett & Goodrich, of Augusta, was also exhibited. The hall itself was full of object of interest.

COTTON GINS.

The competition in this line is remarkable. There are no less than five or six different kinds of gins, and each the "best made." Mr. I. F. Brown, an old resident of this state, but who now lives in New London, Connecticut, has on exhibition his beautiful gin feeder. This machine is artistically constructed and is really ornamental. It is gotten up of the finest material and makes a most elegant appearance, but still is quite cheap. The patentee claims for it several new and important features.

The far famed Winship gins are finely displayed. Thousands are in use all over the country, and their efficiency is determined.

Neblitt & Goodrich, of Augusta, have on exhibition a gin of their manufacture.

Gullatt's light draft gin, manufactured at Amite, Louisiana, is also exhibited.

The several famous gin stands gives ample proof that its reputation is deserved.

J. BEN. WILSON & CO.

display the celebrated American Needle cotton gin, with a patent feeder of fine quality. This gin is made at the famous Remington works, at Ilion, N. Y. The same firm has shown great enterprise in its large and varied display of machinery. They exhibit the neat Bookwalter steam engine, which is hard to be very effective. They display Pitts' wheat separator and cleaner. They have also on hand the far-famed Buckeye Table Rake reaper and mower, for which they are agents. The Victor cane mill also adds to their large and attractive display. They exhibit Cook's sugar and syrup evaporator, which is a very superior machine. This firm deserves great credit for the interest it has taken and the attractions it has added to the hall.

CAR COUPLINGS.

Mr. James M. Cleem exhibits a model to show the work of his patent car coupling. The invention appears to be worthy of real merit. The Coleman grist mill, manufactured at New Orleans, was exhibited.

In our account of the cotton gins, we omitted the name of Hall's patent self-feeding gin, which is a very complete apparatus. Notice should also have been taken of the Sanborn machine company's light draft gin.

The Telegraph fodder cutter is displayed, and looks as if it could desk ate fodder with a vengeance.

A GENIUS.

We mean the young Warwick of Macon, who made with his own hand the beautiful little double oscillating engine. The work is faultless, and evidences rare skill in the youthful machinist. We pronounce the engine a per

LAND AGENCY.

TEXAS LAND AGENCY!

HAVING spent part of the last three years in Texas, and having been repeatedly solicited by parties owning and controling large tracts of land in that State, I have determined, after thoroughly, investigating the whole subject matter, to open a LAND AGENCY to some eligible point in the

LONE STAR STATE

at an early date. With seven years' experience in the REAL ESTATE BUSINESS in all of its details in Georgia, the business will not be new. Parties owning or controling lands in Texas can for the present address me at Rome, Ga. My partner and myself propose to give our attention exclusively to the business in all its details. Bring and conduct suits of controversy, re-establish titles, sell and convey lands, and pay taxes. Best of references given. Correspondence earnestly solicited. Address JOHN T. BURNS & CO Rome, Ga.

Property pointed out by plaintiffs' attorney.

Also, at the same time and place, thirty (30) acres of land in the northwest corner of land lot No. 211, in the 14th district of originally Henry, now Fulton county. As the property of Mary A. King, executrix of B F. King, deceased, by virtue of and to satisfy a fi fa. issued from Fulton Superior Court, in favor of F. Logan vs. W. J. Boston, executor, and Mary King, executrix of B. F. King, peceased, and Ira R. Foster. Property pointed out by plaintiffs' attorney.

Also, at the same time and place, a lot of land, coat and vest patterns. Levied on as the property of J. G. Jones, by virtue of and to satisfy a distress warrant issued from the Justices' Court of the 1235th district, G. M., in favor of R. Peters vs. J. G. Jones.

Also, at the same time and place, all that tract or parcel of land, situated, lying and being in the city of Atlanta, in said county, on the corner of Jackson and Cain streets, bounded as follows: East by Jackson street, south by cain street, west by L. P. Grant's lot, and north by Cobb's lot, containing two acres, more or less, being part of Block 6, in land lot No. 56, in the 14th district of originally Henry, now Fulton county. Levied on as the property of D. D. Snyder, by virtue of and to satisfy a fi. fa. issued from the Justices Court of the 1234th district, G. M., in favor of Thomas M. Clark vs. D. D. Snyder. Levy made by J. D. Fagan, L. C., and handed to me.

Also, at the same time and place, a lot in the city of Atlanta, containing three-sixteenth of an acre, in ward 4 and land lot 52, corner of Fort and Decatur streets; or said lot is a one story dwelling house. Levied on as the property of Wm. L. Hubbard vs. Alex. M. Wallace. Levy made by J. D. Fagan, L. C., and returned to me, October 5, 1874.

Also, at the same time and place, a lot in the city of Atlanta, containing one-half acre, more or less, together with the improvements thereon, known as the Tremont House. Levied on as the property of F. N. Chisolm, by virtue of and to satisfy a fi. fa. issued from Fulton Superior Court, in favor of A. C. & B. F. Wyly vs. F. N. Chisolm. Property pointed out by plaintiffs attorney.

Also, at the same time and place, a lot on Broad street, in the first ward of Atlanta, adjoining the property of Somerour and Ryan, it being part of land lot 77, of the 14th district of Fulton county, containing 24 feet by 69 feet, together with the improvements on the same. Levied on as the property of Mrs. Laura Malaffey, by virtue of and to satisfy a fi. fa. issued from Fulton Superior Court in favor of Bettis & Bro. vs. Mrs. Laura Malaffey, survivor, &c. Property pointed out by plaintiff's attorney.

The foregoing property will be offered for cash.

E. A. FLEWELLEN, Receiver Macon Brunswick Railroad.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF GEORGIA, ATLANTA, September 30, 1874.

Whereas, by virtue of the authority given in the second section of an act entitled "An act to extend the aid of the State to the completion of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad, and for other purposes, approved December 3, 1866, an order was issued from this department on the 2d day of July, 1873, ordering and directing the sale of all the property of said railroad company, and placing the same in the hands of an agent for the State, to be held, managed, and the earnings applied in accordance with the provisions of said second section of said act; and,

Whereas, among other provision of said second section of said act, it is expressly provided that, after the seizure of all the property of said company as aforesaid, the governor "shall sell the said road and its equipments, and other property belonging" to said company, in such manner and at such time as in his judgment may best subserve the interest of all concerned; and having become satisfied that it will be for the best interest of the State and all concerned that all the property of the company seized under said order be sold at an early day, it is, therefore,

Ordered, that all of the property seized as aforesaid, now in the possession of Edward A. Flewellen, Superintendent of Public Works and Receiver of the property of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad Company, under said order, be sold to the highest bidder, at public outcry, at the depot of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad Company, in the city of Macon, between the hours of ten o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M., on the first Tuesday in December next, and the right is hereby reserved to the State to bid for the same at said sale to the extent of one million five hundred thousand dollars: It is further Ordered, that the said Edward A Flewellen, as Receiver aforesaid, make out an advertisement under this order, setting forth with requisite particularity all the property to be sold as aforesaid, and publish the same in such public gazettes in this State and in the city of New York as in his judgment will give proper publicity to said sale.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Executive Department, at the Capitol, in Atlanta, this day and year above written.

JAMES M. SMITH, Governor.

By the Governor:

J. W. WARREN, Secretary, Ex've Dep't.

JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is not a mere alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and digestive organs.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is new and untried discovery, but has been used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

STEWART, AUSTIN & CO.,

Corner of Marietta and Simpson Streets,

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

Our Mr. Stewart, in 1822, assisted in building a small "tub mill," on his father's spring branch, in Robertson county, Tennessee; and after completion took charge of it as miller, and ground for the public.

A few years later, he learned from his father, who was a mill-wright, a practical knowledge of the construction of mills then in use.

He has since had long and varied experience as mill-wright and mill-owner.

For some years past, he has been adding to, and perfecting machinery, for the manufacture of his FFF, FF and Family brands of flour.

The FFF is a pure and beautiful—STRICTLY FANCY.

The FF is a choice flour of good sample which approximates very nearly to NUTRITIVE VALUE, the well-known "GRAHAM FLOUR."

The FAMILY, is of fair sample, and rich in gluten and phosphates.
